Policy on Good Till Cancelled/Good Till Triggered orders

We do not use any third-party application. We trade in the exchange's application itself and there is no pending order in the exchange's software for the next day, so we do not use this policy.

In our company, whenever a client wants to trade, he has to place the order at that time and the next day he will have to place the order again. The order will not be placed the next day. The order will be placed only after the client is confirmed either by a call or on pre-order confirmation.
